SOCIAL JUSTICE

Just Living

We hear the expression reaching out to the peripheries.

It seems they are different for different persons. But could they be nursing home residents, prisoners, homeless, mentally ill, sick, jobless persons, the poor, the fearful, the vulnerable in our society?

"No man is an island."

During this epidemic many continue to feel alone.

Let us respond with creativity and love.

A Note From Fr. Bob

Dear Friends,

Grace and peace to you!

This evening (Monday) there was a beautiful rainbow in the sky just before a magnificent sunset. As I stopped to take a picture of the sunset, I recalled God's promise to Noah after the flood. It is from Genesis 9:11ff. "I will establish my covenant with you, that never again shall all creatures be destroyed by the waters of a flood; there shall not be another flood to devastate the earth. God said: This is the sign of the covenant that I am making between me and you and every living creature with you for all ages to come: I set my bow in the clouds to serve as a sign of the covenant between me and the earth. When I bring clouds over the earth, and the bow appears in the clouds, I will remember my covenant between me and you and every living creature—every mortal being."

While we haven't been in a flood like Noah, we certainly have been in a long-term storm. Just today, Dr. Sam Page, St. Louis County Executive, announced 7 new initiatives to help slow the rising numbers of COVID-19 infections in our area. At first, it appeared that we would have to reduce the number of people permitted at Mass. But after further clarification, we will continue to have a limit of 100 people at our Masses. The new percentage limit is 25% of occupancy. While our limit could be 180 people, it is not possible while maintaining safe social distancing. Please continue to sign up for the weekend Masses. This helps us in our planning for each Mass. Also, the mask requirement remains in effect.

As we remember God's covenant, we recall that we are his people and he is our God. He sent his only Son to redeem us. Such is his love for us. Let's rely on him as we continue to work through this pandemic. Praying for each other and taking care of each other, with God's help, we will get through this.

May we entrust our cares to God during these challenging days.

Peace,

Father Bob

DYNAMIC CATHOLIC, ALIVE

NO GIFT IS TOO SMALL

The feeding of the five thousand is a reminder of two important ideas in being good stewards of the gifts that God has given us. First, when problems arise, God calls on us to be part of the solution. We should absolutely ask the Holy Spirit for guidance, but we must also be willing to act, even if that means being put in an uncomfortable position or doing something that others may not understand at first. Second, no gift is too small or insignificant in God's plan. Too many times we use the excuse of "I don't know how to do that," "I don't have enough time" or "I don't have enough money" when invited to participate in the mission and ministry of the Church. Know that God is calling each of us in the present moment and in our current circumstances into a loving relationship with Him. Your generosity at that specific moment may be the answer to someone else's prayer.

Matthew 17:14-20

This Sunday's readings make me thirsty and hungry! Can we go out to dinner after Mass?

As we say in the responsorial Psalm, "The hand of the Lord feeds us; he answers all our needs." Yet, despite knowing this, we think we never have enough. We're not content with what we have.

Even when things go well, we're not fully satisfied. We want more. Especially in relationships. We're starving for more affection, we crave more attention, our guts grumble over not getting enough concern and support and approval from those who should give it to us.

Every person in our lives has been called by God to be a provider of his love for us. But no one loves us perfectly, and some totally reject this calling. If because of this we live in a state of frustration and anger or cynicism or self-protective isolationism, we're always hungry.

When we choose instead to forgive the imperfect people and turn to Jesus, he miraculously multiplies a little into a lot. By keeping our eyes on Jesus rather than on those who fail to love us fully, his love for us fills our hearts to overflowing.

Feeling dissatisfied is a sign that Jesus is trying to get our attention; there's something he wants to give us. But how is he going to give us what we need if we can't see him and feel touched by him?

To feel satisfied by an invisible God, we need to stay closely connected to him in prayer and in Christian community. We have to pay attention to what he's doing and through whom he's chosen to do it. That means getting more involved and expecting the unexpected!

Reflect & Discuss:

1. What are you hungry for? Who's not giving you enough of what you need?
2. How can you find other ways of receiving this?
3. Describe a time when God met your needs in an unexpected way. From whom did you expect to get it, and how did it happen that you received it another way?
4. Did you receive more – or less – than what you had wanted? Was it satisfying?
